PINKS TAKE BIG LEAD IN CONTEST

Golf Match Sunday Puts Indigoes Temporarily in the Rear

The golf match between the Pink and Indigo teams Sunday resulted in a big lead for the Pinks. As yet, however, only about half of the matches have been played and before the dinner comes off things may look less blue for the Indigo team, when the results of the remaining matches have been turned in.

The committee has been obliged to change the date of the dinner and smoker from Thursday to Saturday night, June 3. The dinner will be at seven o'clock and cars will leave Bisbee for the Country club at 8:00, 8:30, 9:00 and 9:30 p. m.

All players who have not settled their match before Saturday must take one of the early cars and under the direction of the two captains will have to play off their match on the ninth green before the dinner.

TO RACE AT SALT LAKE.
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, May 29.—Many horsemen from the east and south have arrived here for the initial race meeting to open tomorrow at the new track recently built by the Utah Jockey club. It is planned to hold a six weeks' meeting here, after which the horses will be taken to Butte, Mont., where a thirty days' meeting is scheduled to begin July 18.

New pictures tonight at O K theater.

AVERAGE VALUE OF ESTATES

Mr. Charles B. Spahr of Columbia University, since deceased, made an examination at one time of the records of the Surrogates of thirty-five counties in the state of New York, and published the results in "The Outlook." The examination covered a three months' period and included the counties of New York and Kings, the richest in the state. The results are remarkable as showing (1) How few people, comparatively speaking, leave any estates at all and (2) the low average value of estates. The following is a summary of the facts shown:

(1) Out of 10,000 persons over twenty-five years of age dying during the quarter only 3,351, or just about one-third, left any estates whatever. Of those who were heads of families only one-half left any estate; the other half left nothing, not even a savings bank account.

(2) Of the 3,351 estates administered, only 834—about 27 per cent of all estates and 9 per cent of all those dying—were worth over $5,000.

(3) Sixty-five per cent of all left no estates; 25 per cent of all left estates valued at under $5,000, the average value of those below this amount being $1,292. Less than 1 per cent of all left estates valued at $5,000 or over.

These investigations were made without reference to life insurance but they afford a powerful argument of life insurance. They are the results of life—not its rosy-bued expectations. They warn men that if they would do better than the average man they must employ better methods than the average man.

COLTS PRANCE AROUND THE C. &amp; A. BUNCH

Balloon Ascensions in Two Innings Put Callahan's Men Where Calumets Can't Touch Them

SOME HITTERS, ARE COLTS

It was a walkaway for the Colts of Mr. Callahan Sunday afternoon. It took the Pinks until the third inning to get an introduction to Mr. Irving, but when they once got introduced they were perfectly free and easy with the Calumets and had no compunctions whatever about asking him for a pass to first, a steal to second, or even a play out in the garden with their little horsehide ball. And always, at the home plate, was the old door mat, "Welcome Home."

In the course of their cavortings around the diamond, the Colts danced across the mat fourteen times, according to unofficial score. The Calumets-Arizona strain negotiated rest haven eight times.

The Game Starts.
Mr. Callahan's string of ponies went to the bat first, but were unable to come home in the first inning. Critchley landed on the ball on the reel and stole second. He was furthered around to third by Champlin, who was presented with a pass to first by Irving. But Kelley and Boyle were stricken down like one-two and Mr. Callahan himself dropped one in the left pocket, so there you were.

In their half of the first the Calumets sent Larson for a Marathon home, giving the team a lead of one. In the second Mr. Irving again struck out two batters and Allen was cut down at first. Up came the Calumets and again scored, giving them a lead of two. Ensigner was the one who brought home the bacon, getting a base on balls and being sent home by Fricke and Cosgrave. Fricke was caught trying to get across the door mat, Amos struck out and Holle flew out.

Where were the touted Colts all this while?

Colts Get Busy.
They pranced on the green, minus the grass, in the third inning—and, well, it was a great victory. Irving had begun to weaken. He tossed passes to Critchley and Champlin. Kelly came up and lined one out and began a waltz feat that decided the game in the third inning. Out of the two men who came to bat for the Colts, every mother's son felt Mr. Irving's weakening, gently winging curves and six of them danced a spectacular war dance around the grassless green. Champlin, Kelly, Boyle, Callahan, Allen and Gill each found the barnyard. The Colts talked count.

The Calumets had excellent opportunities in their half of the third to cut down the lead of the Colts, but sent one lone man across the bar after getting five men on base, two men on third, one on second and one on first. With two men down, a man on third, a man on second and a man on first, Fricke flew out and the side retired, the Colts leading at the end of the third by 6 to 2.

Fourth is Tranquil.
In the fourth Irving passed Boyle to the first sack and the runner was sacrificed to third, having stolen second, by Callahan. Allen got on by being hit by the pitcher. Gill popped out to pitcher and Walsh struck out, the Colts failing to get Boyle home.

The Bankers failed to come home in the fourth, though Holle got as far as third, where he died. Bankard and Lambert failing to connect.

The Colts made a double entry in the fifth, Harrington and Critchley participating in the homecoming exercises. Harrington got a pass from Mr. Irving and covered the intervening space between first and third on a wild throw. Mr. Critchley was passed likewise and stole second. Both he and Harrington came home on a wild throw. Mr. Champlin was passed and stole second and third, where he remained, Kelly striking out, Boyle flying out and Callahan being put out at first, pitcher to first.

Irving scored for the Calumets in the last of the fifth, getting a center field hit, stealing second and being sent home by Ensigner, Amos and Cosgrave. Amos was caught napping at second when there was one out. Ensigner died at third and Pricke at second when Cosgrave went out, short to first. The score at the end of the fifth was 8 to 4.

Irving had evidently reached the limit of his endurance at the end of the fifth and he resigned in favor of Pricke, Irving going to left and Bankard to center.

Walsh's Home Run.
In the sixth, Gill net a nice single through short and was brought home by Walsh, who landed the first home run of the season, sending the hide way back between right and center field. Pricke was landed on by Critchley and Champlin, but the ball fell into the hands of the enemy in the field. The Colts increased their lead by two runs, but it was nullified when the Calumets also put two runs across the plate in their turn. Holle fanned but was safe when Kelly dropped the ball. Champlin redeemed Kelly's error, however, by a professionally classy catch of a liner, Bankard lined one over second, for which Champlin made a run and a leap and pulled down, hitting Holle at second, completing the double unassisted. Lambert singled to short and was advanced to second by Larson, who also singled. Irving was passed, forcing Lambert to third and Larson to second. Ensigner sent Lambert and Larson across the plate, but Irving was caught trying to make it three. The score at the end of the sixth was 10 to 5.

The rally of the Colts was checked in the seventh, the side retiring one-two-four, the third man getting a single to short. Gill, who followed, tried to do the same, but was put out, short to first.

Score for the Colts.

The Calumets had chances to cut down the Colts' lead in the seventh, but failed to mature them. Amos scored after getting a single. Boyle and Congrave reached third, but were cut off at the plate. Bankard reached second, but died when Lambert was cut off at first. The score at the end of the seventh was 10 to 7. In the eighth the Colts retired one-two-three. For the Calumets Larson flew out to center, Irving singled and reached second, but not no further. Ensigner getting off at first and Amos flying out to first.

Colts Revive Again.
The Colts had a relapse of the batting fever in the ninth and sent four runners across the plate. Champlin flew out to short. Kelly singled through third. Kelly put a good one through short for a single, but Kelly was thrown out at second. Boyle stole third. Callahan singled to a safe place in left and scored Boyle. Allen shot out a hot liner and Callahan got to third. On a wild throw by the pitcher to second Callahan and Allen scored. Gill touched Fricke on for a single to near left and Walsh was passed to first. Harrington singled over second and scored Gill. Walsh going to second. Critchley knocked one down first base line and was put out. The Colts had scored four runs after two men had been put out.

One For Consolation.

Holle scored in the ninth for the Calumets. Fricke hit a bouncer over second for a single. Cosgrave knocked out to short and was cut off at first. Fricke being doubled out at second. Holle popped a fly out to center, who muffed it, and Holle took second and reached home on a wild throw. Bankard struck out. The game ended, Colts 14, C. & A. 8.

The score by innings was as follows:
Colts 0 0 6 0 2 2 0 0 4—14
C. & A. 1 1 1 0 1 2 1 0 4—8

WRESTLER WANTS TO GO ON MAT HERE

Chester Grow Is Spoiling for Match With Some Local Artists

If there is a wrestler in the district weighing in the neighborhood of 175 pounds who wants a match, here's a chance. Chester Grow, the Tucson man, wants a bout with a Bisbee man and says that he will take on anyone at his weight. The letter follows:
"Sporting Editor:
"Is there anyone in or around Bisbee who would like a go on the mat with me? I weigh 172 pounds and will take on anyone at my weight. I hope to hear from you as soon as possible. I will consider it a great favor if you will let me know if I can get a match with anyone there. Respectfully yours,
"CHESTER GROW."

There are some good wrestlers in the district, as shown by matches pulled off recently at the Lowell club smokers, and one of them might be willing to take Grow on. It would not be a bad idea, if a bout can be arranged, to pull it off on the Fourth of July, as a part of the sport program being arranged by the committee on sports. Or if the sports committee does not care to place it on the program, the Lowell club might take it up as a separate feature. Grow's address is general delivery, Tucson, Ariz.

A good wrestling match, in the hands of reliable parties, would no doubt be a good drawing card on the big holiday.
Some time ago Roy Mabey, the Oklahoma farmer, wanted to come down here, but could get no one to go on with him. Mabey is still wrestling at Albuquerque. He weighs 172.

REVIEW PENNANT SHIPPED FROM EAST

The pennant offered by the Bisbee Daily Review for the winning team in the Warren District Baseball league has been shipped from the factory and will arrive in Bisbee soon and be placed on display. It will be about the lightest thing ever seen in the southwest. It will be 12 feet long, with white letters on a red background.
It is probable, if the interest in the league holds good, that the pennant will be hoisted at Warren baseball park at the end of the season with ceremony.

EXTRA SESSION KEEPS ALL IN A SWEAT

Long Islanders a great many years ago when he was a practitioner at the New York bar. Ordinarily, when the supreme court is in recess from June until October, the attorneys general are able to take a three or four months' vacation. Only the presence of congress and the president in Washington during the torrid season interferes with this program.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer is devoted to his beautiful home at Beverly, Mass., where he usually goes with his chief. He, too, will tarry in Washington and fuss at the heat and wonder how congressmen can be patriotic in midsummer.

"Tama Jim" Immune.

There is one exception to rule among the cabinet officers during the summer months. That is Secretary James Wilson, of the department of agriculture. He is a farmer, both in precept and practice. The heat does not bother him. He used to plow in the field and harvest wheat in July. Therefore, Washington's humidity holds no terror for him.

There are two new secretaries of the cabinet now. One of them, Secretary Fisher of the interior department comes from Chicago and may not mind the heat. But he has never tried that in the national capital. Secretary Stimson, who has just succeeded Jacob L. Dickinson as secretary of war, is a New Yorker, and may be lulled to the heat.

It is an ill wind that blows no-thing good in politics, as in everything else. While the secretaries are suffering from the heat in Washington the assistant secretaries have to be off somewhere enjoying diversion. In summers past the assistant secretaries were the officials who "held the bag," as it were. They were left in Washington as "acting secretaries" and remained to flounder around in the heat until their chiefs might decide to come back.

Few Are Fortunate.

If the cabinet chiefs are compelled to stay here, however, that will give the assistant chiefs their opportunity. It is an opportunity they have never enjoyed. They have, of course, been given a month's vacation in each year, but, in official circles, a month is not regarded as any vacation at all. It is not enough of a vacation to open one's summer place, nor enough to go to Europe and not enough to go to the Pacific coast. It is looked upon simply as a breathing spell.

But while congress is causing this suffering among the departments, that body is suffering itself. The big building which is known as the capitol gets about as hot as any big building can, and the members of the house and senate have to undergo a general sweating process when they elect to carry their sessions in to midsummer.
